

NEW ERA FOR NATIONALISM

BNP ELECTS NEW LEADER

THE BRITISH NATIONAL PARTY proved itself the most democratic political party in Britain at the end of last month when members elected their party Chairman by means of one man one vote. The nomination process in the run up to the vote was also achieved without the kind of block voting, smoke filled back rooms and manouvering party grandees typical of the establishment globalist parties.

In the event, BNP members voted by a clear margin for the party's Director of Publicity, Mr. Nick Griffin.

Mr. Griffin takes over from the party's previous Chairman, Mr. John Tyndall, who had held the post for seventeen years.

The turnout for the secret postal ballot was high at 80 per cent and reflected the interest shown throughout the campaign. After the envelopes containing the ballot papers were opened and the ballot papers verified, Nick Griffin was found to have topped the poll with 62% of the vote with John Tyndall's share being 38%.

The vote marks a watershed for Nationalist politics in which Mr. Tyndall has been the dominant figure for 35 years. Mr. Tyndall said after the vote that he will concentrate on writing and publishing and he urged everyone to fully back the party since it represents Britain's last hope for national salvation.

BBC Radio Wales on its Good Morning Wales news programme and by HTV television.

Mr. Griffin said on BBC Radio Wales that the party was still committed to an all-white Britain, but that commonsense dictated that the party's repatriation programme had to be of a voluntary nature with cash inducements to stand any chance of significant electoral support. Effectively, he said the party would buy back the passports of immigrants in this country. Alex Carlyle, the former Lib-Dem MP for Montgomeryshire admitted that the BNP's image would be improved but warned that the party's core beliefs still made it a "racist organisation."

The HTV news slot was extremely fair to the point of being positively good publicity. The feature mentioned that the election was the first in the party's 17-year history and that the members had elected Nick Griffin as the first elected leader of the party. Mr. Griffin was shown on his Welsh small-holding cutting wood and feeding pigs.

Mr. Griffin told journalists that there existed a huge gap between what the people of our country want and what the establishment politicians are prepared to give them. We exist, he said, to close that gap. The British National Party is the only party pledging to protect British industry and agriculture — which necessitates withdrawing from the EU; is pledged to extend and strengthen democracy through the increased use of information technology and referenda at national and local levels; for the restoration of capital punishment as an option for judges where the crime is particularly heinous and backed up by DNA evidence; and of course, a complete halt to all further immigration including so-called 'asylum-seekers'.

TIME FOR A NEW BEGINNING

The election of Nick Griffin as the new Chairman of the British National Party heralds a new beginning for British Nationalism.

A fresh view, a new broom, new ideas and increased vitality from a younger man will provide the impetus to take the party further than it has ever gone before.

Much needs to be done to increase party efficiency and there will be a welcome shift of party posture on the key issues of the day as the new man makes his imprint on the party.

Administratively, the emphasis will be on decentralisation and increased participation to spread the party's work load more evenly than before. Less work per person is expected to increase efficiency.

Politically, a more media-friendly approach will be used with a change of emphasis towards mother-hood and apple pie topics such as calling for the strengthening and extension of democracy and so on.

Gone but not forgotten is John Tyndall who set the party out on its course from the faction-ridden early 1980s. But while Mr. Tyndall is no longer party Chairman, he is not completely gone since he will still be seen speaking at party meetings up and down the country, giving his encouragement and support.

In the meantime, Mr. Griffin will begin his leadership tenure by chairing a number of regional meetings for Organisers and live-wires which are forming the first phase of a consultation process. This is intended to generate a whole raft of new ideas for steps forward to be taken in all areas of the party's operations.

Mr. Griffin and other party leaders are already working on a whole range of organisational improvements, including a long overdue full-scale administrative overhaul. They are also developing imaginative plans for future campaigns which will strengthen existing support in the BNP's heartlands and widen the party's appeal to new areas and interest groups.

The creativity, positive vision and dynamism which characterised Mr. Griffin's leadership election is now going to be directed single-mindedly at promoting the party into the new millennium. It's going to be an exciting time for nationalism and the BNP!

PROVE YOU'RE NOT RACIST. GIVE US YOUR COUNTRY!

That's the amazing boiled down argument that 'anti-racists' will soon be using to brow beat Britain's beleaguered whites.

This argument, already popular in a slightly different form at nightclubs everywhere: "Go out with me. You're not racist are you?", is set to spread into every other walk of life. Ken Livingstone has been told by Bernie Grant, the black Labour MP for Tottenham to step aside for the black candidate (Trevor Phillips) as Labour's candidate for Mayor of London. Livingstone, wanting multi-racialism for everyone but himself declined and said that 20 years ago, someone could have said: "stand down for the female candidate" to advance women's rights and ended up with Margaret Thatcher.

As readers can see, Livingstone is typical of the slimy species of politician inhabiting the House of Commons. One rule for others, another for himself. 'Tory' Blair is another, sending his sons off to a school miles outside of anywhere with a significant immigrant population. Meanwhile, local people in Islington suffer from some of the worst schools in the country.

This 'prove you're not racist' argument 'give me x, y and z' is nothing short of outrageous blackmail. A lot of stupid whites, however, not wanting to be thought of as 'wicked racists' will have their lives made an absolute misery by trying to give in to racist demands from minorities which hold that only whites are racist.

Trevor Phillips, a Labour Mayoral hopeful has said that black businesses will get "first call" on big London contracts. The whole charade is so obviously calculated to racial advantage for non-whites that it is timely and proper for white people to call this blackmail for what it is before they are completely dispossessed: RACIST AND WRONG!

Race renegade Livingstone: Having to come to terms with the system he wants for everyone else

Grant: Taking 'anti-racism' to its logical conclusion — racism against white people

GANGSTAS...

The rise of 'gangsta culture' which is closely aligned with the world of hip hop and rap — largely black foreign 'culture' imports is something that not even 'liberals' have been able to excuse.

The fact that 'liberals' have conceded a down-side to multi-culturalism which is the logical follow-on from multi-racialism is highly significant.

The rap and hip hop icons of American youth culture are exclusively black which lends to their appeal to young blacks here in Britain. Sadly, these icons such as Snoop Doggy Dogg, Tupac Shakur and Notorious BIG have glorified the outlaw as a 'black thing'.

The image of 'gangstas' driving flash cars, wearing expensive clothes and jewellery and with loose women in tow has caught the imagination of a generation already inclined towards the 'something for nothing' mentality.

At the same time, 'liberals' give out anguished wails at the number of young black men in prison or on parole.

Nevertheless, it is also a fact that media liberals totally ignored the wave of black on black drug related shootings until white hip hop DJ Tim Westwood (who sports a faux-Jamaican accent) was himself the victim of a drive-by shooting.

Westwood was the 34th victim this year in London of armed gangsters when two men pulled up in traffic on a motor cycle next to his range rover and opened fire. Four others in the car were injured by flying glass.

The callous disregard of liberals towards these shootings betrays their anti-racist hypocrisy — black victims are wrong if whites are the

Westwood: Wanted to live the Jamaican experience and got much too close perpetrators. If blacks are also the perpetrators, then 'liberals' don't want to know!

In London this year there have been sixteen gun deaths. In one incident in Brixton, a car pulled up and two men jumped out and tried to force another man into the car. He didn't want to go for obvious reasons! One of the two men then shot him in the head. Half way between Stockwell and Brixton in the middle of some side streets is a basket ball pitch. Local children were playing there in the summer when one man ran across the pitch pursued by another. When the pursuer fired a shot, the man running turned and fired back. The two men exchanged 30 rounds over the basketball pitch and over the prone bodies of the children who had dived for cover. When police arrived, they found only one man — and he had six bullets lodged within him.

No doubt the police

Gangster's favourite: Ingram Mac 10 machine pistol will do their best, but when liberals exalt different cultures as every bit as valid as our own, then they will be fighting an uphill battle.

Needless to say, and to state the obvious, under a BNP government the eleven blacks who have died this year alone would still be alive living their lives in a black society, with black role models and achieving to their full potential.

TALE OF A TIMID TORY

Racial masochist Boris Johnson wrote in The Telegraph on the occasion of the entry of British Army troops (Gurkhas as it happened) into Pristina, Kosovo: "I felt the cheap sentiment of pure patriotism."

BN wonders why Johnson feels patriotism a cheap sentiment? With patriotism in rather short supply these days and therefore having a rarity value, you'd think the sentiment would be anything but cheap. Still, that's what having a soft liberal brain does for you. Johnson stood as a limp Tory candidate in Wales at the last General Election.

YOU'RE NOT BLACKER THAN YOU THINK

Steven Jones, who claims to be a geneticist claims that the British are 'Blacker than you think'. He says that 1 in 5 of the British population has at least 'some black blood'.

It is important to note, however, that whatever his genetic credentials are, his findings are based not on genetic grounds but upon dubious historical data. For instance, his data takes no account of the fact that the first indentured labourers to the West Indies were white and in most cases had been abducted by slavers. Therefore those slaves returning to Britain from the West Indies were not black. Secondly, his figures have no way of telling how many blacks who did come to Britain before the last century left again. Thirdly, his figures take no account of the drastically low survival rate of working class babies, particularly those, who through their skin colour would have been unable to absorb sufficient vitamin D and would therefore have died. Even in today's prosperous Britain, non-whites have problems with rickets. Furthermore, the Army reckons that black troop survival rates during a general war would be so low that black troops have been ear-marked special supplies of vitamin D to stop them dying.

As a last word on genetics in Britain, in a serious study by Oxford University geneticists last year investigating mitochondrial DNA in modern Britons and in iron age man, it was found that 99 per cent of Britons have been here for the last 10,000-40,000 years. The other 1 per cent was not specified, but is likely the result of further immigration into Britain from northern Europe since the Angles, Saxons, Jutes, Danes, Normans, Huguenots and other closely related Europeans have all arrived within the last 1,500 years or so.

NEW HOMES AVAILABLE — FOR ASIANS ONLY!

Nottingham-born lass Michelle Greyson found out last month that she, like all indigenous Britons, is a second-class citizen in her own country.

When Michelle saw three-bedroom houses being built near her own over-crowded home in Nottingham, she phoned the local council to see whether they had already been allocated. Upon being told to write in with her own application she did just that.

Since then, Michelle has learned the true shocking fact of multi-racial Britain — everything seems to be arranged for the racial advantage of everyone but the real British!

The letter that she got back from the council told her that she could not be considered because her family were not Asian!

A spokesman for the Commission for Racial Equality said that the law allowed for housing provision to be made for particular ethnic groups.

Just as BN has always maintained: One law for them...

THE TED BUDDEN COLUMN

EDUCATION, EDUCATION, EDUCATION = CORRUPTION
In days of yore, queers were discreet and stayed in closet

That was then. Nowadays it is different. The love that dare not speak its name is now shouted from the rooftops. The homos have crept out of the closet and straight into Blair's cabinet. They have become clamorous and demanding, even threatening, and they are getting their way.

They got their way in the little matter of the Bugging Little Boys Bill that lowered the age of homosexual consent for vulnerable teenagers. That was forced through the Commons by the massed ranks of queens and dykes on Labour's swarming benches with a fair measure of support from the Tories and Lib-Dems. Blair, that spurious pillar of morality, has vowed that it will be forced through onto the statute book despite determined opposition from the House of Lords that includes former Labour Prime Minister James Callaghan.

Now, having tasted success, the queer militants have further demands that must be satisfied. Fresh from triumphantly addressing a meeting of Stonewall, the 'gay equality group' in the House of Commons, Brighton MP David Lepper (unclean, unclean!) has extracted a promise of the Junior Environment Minister Alan Meale, that the Government intends to press ahead with plans to repeal Section 28 of the Local Government Act which prohibits councils from promoting homosexuality in schools, a law that the odious Lepper regards as discriminating against 'gay and lesbian communities'.

I'll wager that when people voted Labour with their eyes wide shut, they didn't realise that Labour was committed to corrupting their children in schools and that they would keep very quiet about it until they forced through the legislation on the nod. I certainly wasn't aware of it and perhaps we should be grateful to the unspeakable Lepper for bringing it to our attention.

BLAIR'S ULSTER MASTER PLAN
So much time has been devoted to the affairs of N. Ireland that we sometimes forget that its population amounts to well under a quarter of London's. Furthermore it has politicians who are no more adept than London councillors, though one hopes that they are a good deal more honest.

For Sinn Fein is absolutely correct in insisting that the Good Friday agreement was not conditional on the IRA surrendering its weapons. However, the Unionist acceptance of it was mainly on assurances that they were given by Tony Blair. It is indicative of the naivety of Unionist politicians that they are surprised to discover that the assurances of this practised con artist are worth no more than the noxious gust of hot air that emitted them.

For despite Blair's insistence that he is sympathetic towards unionism, his actions prove otherwise; a fact readily cottoned on to by Ulster's most principled politician, the much-reviled Ian Paisley who knows that Blair has a secret agenda to sell out Ulster.

First there was Blair's astonishing appointment of poor brain-damaged Mo Mowlam as N. Ireland Secretary despite her past advocacy of a united Ireland. She, not surprisingly, is popular among republicans and loathed by the Unionists but she serves Blair's purpose by taking the flak while he flits to and fro looking statesman-like.

Then there was the 'independent' Saville enquiry set up to investigate the so-called 'Bloody Sunday' affair of fully 25 years ago whose sole purpose is to give currency to fanciful republican lies and defame the security forces. But perhaps the most telling example of the Blair plan to force Ulster out of the United Kingdom was the appointment of Chris Patten to head the 'independent' enquiry into the Royal Ulster Constabulary. Blair knew precisely what he was getting. Patten was appointed Governor of Hong Kong as a consolation prize for the loss of his Parliamentary seat in 1992. He presided over the hauling down of the Union Flag and the handing over of the colony to the Chinese. He had no choice. But he had a choice about demonstrating his loyalty to the people

SPONGER BLAIR SHAMES BRITAIN

'Tory' Blair, the Prime Minister who talks of extending a hand up, not a hand out qualifies himself as the biggest serial sponger of recent times.

Three years in a row, the Blair family (income £300,000 p.a.) have used Blair's fame as UK Prime Minister to bag a free holiday out of rich Italians living in Tuscany, N. Italy.

The acid test of whether the free holidays are because Blair is a long-standing friend of these people — the latest is his 'good friend' Vannino Chiti, the Tuscan regional President, (last year Blair was the guest of an aristocrat) is given by the fact that these are the first free holidays that Blair has ever had in Italy, proving that the favours depend upon his status as PM which begs the question as to what Blair is doing for these Italians in return.

As was the case last year, when the aristocrat and his family had to move out into a bungalow in the grounds of his home, Chiti also had to move out. This time, the move was accomplished with more polish and it was announced that Chiti was himself going on holiday — to Scotland.

The lavish Blair family holiday at a 22-bedroom private villa in 66,000-acre grounds in one of the most desirable areas of Italy, if not in the whole of Europe, would cost anyone else at least £12,000. With unavoidable security costs, the bill goes much higher.

The Blair extravagance included cordoning off a three-mile stretch of beach to exclude local people just for him and having the leaning Tower of Pisa opened especially so that Blair could climb the tower which has been closed for nine years as engineers try to reverse its tilt.

of Britain rather better than advocating the granting of British passports to all of Hong Kong's teeming millions. All too predictably, Patten has recommended that all the symbols of Ulster's loyalty to the United Kingdom be scrapped. The Union Flag to be hauled down at police stations lest it annoy republicans; the oath of allegiance to be altered so that even the most disloyal republican can countenance it; the RUC Special Branch to be disbanded and reconstituted to make it more 'republican-friendly'.

The Special Branch is the intelligence unit of the RUC and it relies heavily on information from informers. One can imagine that the information will rapidly dry up if the informers know that their names are being made available to the IRA.

All in all, the prospect is that the RUC will be rendered totally ineffective, much to the satisfaction of the IRA.

Patten has done his work well. Blair must be pleased with him.

He can now savour his reward; a first-class seat on the Brussels gravy train as the UK's Commissioner.

MATHEMATICS MADE SIMPLE
Many years ago, there were race riots in Liverpool centred around the largely black area of Toxteth. No national newspaper carried a report of these riots. The BBC, home of fearless investigative reporting which reported black anti-apartheid riots in South Africa as soon as they happened, and sometimes before they happened, sat on the Toxteth story for four days before the general public were allowed to know.

Nothing has changed. Despite the much-trumpeted policy of freedom of information, the attacks on the people of Dover by razor-wielding immigrant thugs had an all-too-predictable outcome. Jack Straw, the fascist Home Secretary, banned protest marches in the town in order to prevent the public knowing what was going on and to keep the British in their place — at the bottom of the heap.

He also directed that the illegal immigrants should be moved from Dover and scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land and that local councils should be obliged to feed and house them, thus ensuring that we all got an equal share of the misery — shouldering the costs of the burden, and having our cultural harmony similarly shattered.

The outcome is all-too-predictable. Last year alone, 20,000 illegal immigrants who had been denied entry into Britain simply disappeared. They vanished among the millions of legal immigrants who already occupy our towns and cities. This latest inundation of illegals will doubtless do the same.

Yet the solution is easy. As in most European countries, people should be obliged to carry identity papers to prove their right to reside here. Anyone who hadn't got their papers could be deported immediately and deported at their own expense. Anyone with false papers could be jailed and then deported at their own expense.

Enoch Powell, among others, asserted that immigration was just a matter of numbers. Indeed it is. And the equation is simple — one is one too many!

HEADING TOWARDS A POLICE STATE

The headlong rush towards repression and a police state continues apace under Home Secretary Jack Straw just as it did with the last Tory Home Secretary, Michael Howard.

Jack Straw, in particular, is busily engaged in nothing short of a conspiracy with Home Office mandarins to destroy the human rights and civil liberties of British citizens in direct contravention of Magna Carta and common law.

In particular, proposals that the state can seize property and confiscate the bank accounts of citizens on alleged suspicion of involvement in crime, will undermine the basic legal principle that suspects must be found guilty by a jury before they can be punished.

Furthermore, Jack Straw has engaged the lever for the total abolition of trial by jury on the spurious pretext of saving money on 'trivial cases' and with the overt agenda of increasing the conviction rate regardless of natural justice.

In addition, while naturally siding with the victim of a particular crime — rape — Straw is to abolish the right of defendants to conduct their own defences and to restrict severely the right of an accused to cross-examine his accusers on the grounds of protecting alleged rape victims.

Worst of all, to further boost the conviction rate at the expense of natural justice, Straw is set to destroy the right of cross-examination and the proper testing of evidence in criminal cases by the admission of uncontested 'hearsay evidence.'

The latest news is that Straw has asked the law commission to review the double jeopardy rule whereby a defendant cannot be tried twice for the same crime. Straw wants this 'anachronistic' vestige of protection for defendants scrapped. Then, no matter whether a defendant is acquitted, Straw can keep prosecuting any given defendant until he gets the result that he wants!

In addition to seeking to destroy hard-won guarantees of natural justice under the law, Blair and Straw have also promoted policies which have turned Britain into a police state. In particular they have:

(i) failed to repeal the

Drug Trafficking Offences Act 1986 (1986 c32), the passage of which turned every bank manager, building society manager, accountant and solicitor into a police spy a la Nazi Germany/Soviet Russia;

(ii) failed to repeal the Race Relations Act which outlaws freedom of speech on the pretext of suppressing incitement to racial hatred;

(iii) authorised the use of intrusive surveillance by police forces on their own authority and without recourse to warrants and;

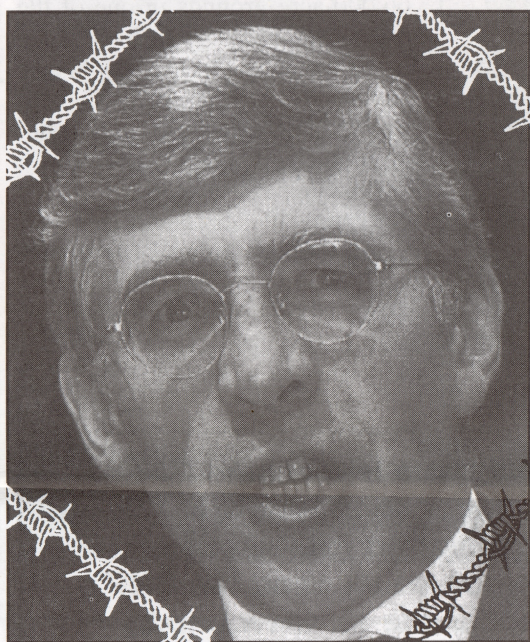

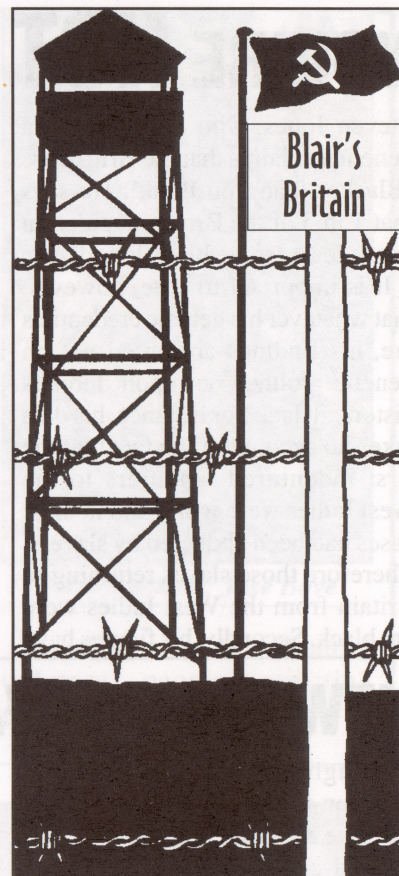

(iv) abolished Old Style Committals in magistrates courts on the spurious pretext of saving costs.

When all these things are considered along with Howard's Criminal Justice Bill which outlawed private gatherings, meetings on private land of more than two people if the police felt it necessary, it becomes quite obvious that all the powers are in place to legally crush the British people into absolute subservience. Computers and hi-tech surveillance completes the Orwellian scenario.

Government and policing in a democracy is a matter of trust and consent. The politicians, however, cannot even be trusted by their wives not to play away with another woman. Or even another man! Given that their wives cannot trust them, do you trust the politicians not to abuse their powers, let alone not make use of the draconian powers that they've legally given themselves?

Nor do we! That's why the British National Party advocates greater freedom, rolling back the oppressive carpet of poorly worded legislation enacted by one incompetent government after another.

INTOLERANCE OF THE UNIONS

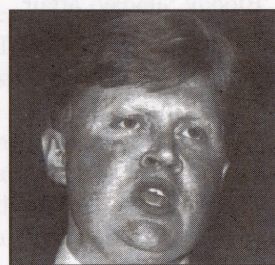

Unions like the Communication Workers' Union (CWU) did themselves no service back in June when key union officials agitated in defiance of the law to put a block on delivering BNP election addresses.

The whole issue gave the party much good publicity since the party was seen to be standing on its democratic rights against the Stalinists of the left. Many non-BNP supporting members of the public leapt to the party's defence.

The CWU's own magazine, Voice printed several letters defaming the BNP from typical lefties whose stock in trade consists entirely of abuse and misrepresentation. The union's conference contained some amusing soundbites. One from Amarjit Singh started with the laudable: "I defend free speech", before making it clear that he didn't!

Are these men mail watch dogs

SIR, — I feel I must comment on the story carried in the Sentinel with regard to postal workers refusing to deliver mail.

Are there people employed to deliver the mail or employed as Royal Mail watch dogs?

Here we have individuals setting themselves up as guardians of our morals, viz dictating what we should or should not read and being condoned throughout by a spineless management team too weak to take action.

These workers should have at least been cautioned as to their future conduct and at most sent home without pay.

There are millions of us who find parts of our jobs distasteful to do for whatever reason. What if everyone took the view not to carry out these functions? It would be totally unacceptable.

There are far too many people who are self appointed, who sit as judge and jury on what we should see on television, what we should hear and in this case what we should read.

It's so tiring and exasperating to continually tell these people that we live in a democracy and once we start to get dictated to then it becomes an autocracy where you cannot have your point of view. We all have private views on most things and I think that the postal workers were wrong to deprive people of the chance to read the literature often all there is a Scottish National Party and a Welsh National Party, did the Royal Mail ban their election literature? I'm sure they didn't.

I for one, would have like to read what the BNP had to say, but that doesn't mean that I would agree with them or that I would vote them into office. I'm sure plenty of other people feel the same.

Through the actions of some few self appointed moralists I have been prevented from doing this. Michael Newland of the BNP is absolutely right to point out the folly of allowing Royal Mail policy being dictated to by a few individuals who think they speak for the majority.

B CHALLINOR

Fiasco in the post

SIR, — I was completely taken aback by your front-page story of Thursday, June 10 about postal workers refusing to deliver BNP election material. I feel that this fiasco cannot pass by without my comments.

Judging by the incorrect mail delivered to my home, it would seem that whether an item is delivered to the correct address, or even not at all, is simply based on the whim of the postman. No amount of complaining to the management of Royal Mail seems to achieve any improvement whatsoever. Royal Mail managers seem to have little control or influence over the postal workers who work for them.

This lack of control is emphasised by your story. How can it be right that a postal worker decides if he or she is going to deliver an item or not? Who is running Royal Mail anyway? Presumably the postal workers and their union, it certainly isn't the management! As for the comments by Elaine Blake, a member of the North Staffs Racial Equality Council, they can only be described as crass and totally undemocratic. Refusing to carry out a task for which your employer has a legal obligation to fulfil, simply because you do not agree with that particular party's election literature can hardly be in the best interest of democracy. There are many occasions when we could all object to carrying out our jobs because of something that we don't agree with. Nevertheless we carry out the job that our employer is paying us to do, not what we would prefer to do because we want to 'act according to our conscience'.

This proves to me that the 'Politically Correct Party' is currently one of the greatest threats in our society to the maintenance of democracy and the achievement of real and absolute equality.

THE BNP AND RACE

The BNP is best known for its policy on race and immigration. The BNP opposes immigration into the UK from whatever its source. For forty years this immigration has primarily been coloured. But it is not an issue of colour since the party is equally opposed to immigration from Albania and Eastern Europe.

The BNP is not a 'race supremacist' party. The BNP does not claim that any one race is superior to any other, simply that they are different. The party merely wishes to preserve those differences which make up the rich tapestry of human kind.

Neither has the BNP any connection with 'race hate'. Indeed it is the multi-racists who are the haters since it is they who are determined to destroy all cultures and all races to achieve a multi-racial mish-mash.

To protect and preserve the racial and cultural integrity of the British people — and of others too, the party believes in separation.

Only in a Black society will Black kids find true Black role models. Only in a Muslim society will Muslims find their religion free from Western influence. All peoples need a homeland. The British too need a homeland.

Nor are the BNP 'racist'. Indeed, the BNP are resisting the racist colonisation of Britain in which the native people of Britain are having their culture suppressed, their land colonised and are being discriminated against on racial grounds.

To sum up, the BNP is fighting for the very right to exist of not just the British, but of all peoples.

The efforts by spy agencies from the Soviet bloc to subvert British institutions and organisations were far wider than even the most extreme anti-communists supposed.

"My country right or wrong" may or may not be an infallible guide to moral rectitude. What is undisputable is that the alternative that British Soviet sympathisers embraced — "the Soviet Union, right or wrong" — guaranteed collaboration with one of the most evil and murderous regimes in history.

Fukuyama is surprisingly tentative when it comes to solutions. He sketches a few nettles then hesitates to grasp them. One of them is multi-culturalism. Yet it must surely be obvious that multi-culturalism is at odds with the idea of social capital: it is divisive. Social capital must be monocultural; in order to cooperate and trust each other, everyone must subscribe, more or less to a single set of values. Minette Marrin, Daily Telegraph.

The resorts of East Kent used to provide good value holidays. Now they are a dumping ground for 5,000 or more asylum seekers from eastern Europe.

For weeks, the Dover Express has reflected residents' concern at the way the town is being swamped. But what is the police reaction?

Astonishingly, they warn the editor, Nick Hudson, that his headlines are inflammatory. The Sun.

DRUG CRIME AND THE TORIES

Last month, Cumbria drug squad detectives cracked the county's biggest drug operation ever. Small time drug addict Craig Fowler was used to supply heroin to the entire drug community in Barrow. The 'Mr. Big' was described as Marion Campbell from Manchester.

When Campbell got 6 years last month, he was the last to be sentenced after no less than two-dozen Barrow addicts and drug dealers were also sentenced to prison.

The truth of the drug trade is that Marion Campbell is far from being its Mr. Big or anything like. That dubious honour, so far as heroin is concerned, goes to Ma Sik-chun. Ma coincidentally happens to be one of the Tory party's biggest donors — up to a million pounds on one occasion.

The real Mr. Big: Ma Sik-chun, TORY PARTY DONOR

The dirty money was accepted by the Tories even though they knew where the money had come from since the donation was arranged through ex-Hong Kong governor

Craig Fowler (above) and Marion Campbell, the so-called Mr. Big (right)

Chris Patten who could not have failed to know that Ma was a notorious crime family.

Tory leader William Hague promised to return the money "if it could be proved that it had come from illegal sources." Since that hasn't happened, the Tories are able to keep the proceeds of drug trafficking which probably represents no more than several kilos of death.

WHEN WILL POLICE ACT ON RACE CRIME?

Pictured right is John Aspinall who was battered outside his Belgravia home trying to defend both himself and his wife from vicious muggers.

Like other 'top people' mugged outside their West End London homes of late, Mr. Aspinall is in no doubt that the multi-racial society has failed to work. In another attack, Shirley Best — a black business woman — was also robbed of a rolex watch. In her case, muggers pressed a hot iron into her side.

Since the spate of high-profile robberies, police have announced that they are going to use female officers as decoys.

BN says this is good news for the posh, but when are they going to use decoys in Oldham, Stepney and Peterborough etc to bring to book the vicious anti-white race-haters?

Obituary

Judith Brookes of Chorley Manor, Shropshire died in Kidderminster hospital last month aged 69 from a short illness involving cancer.

Both Judith and her husband, Bernard had been active nationalists since the 1970s. Judith was a keen letter writer to the local paper and was generous in her support of the party.

Always bright and cheerful, Judith was diagnosed as having cancer some two years ago but fought it off. Her physician said at the time that it was her enthusiasm for politics that helped overcome the disease.

The cancer unfortunately returned at the end of summer and after a quick illness, Judith has gone to join both her ancestors and her husband. She will be much missed by all her friends and party colleagues.

Sir — When the Americans in their wisdom have helped to establish an ethnically pure Muslim state in Kosovo, we will be within range of any medium distance rockets that other Muslim states care to give them. Since the Muslim world now possesses atomic, chemical and biological weapons, the danger is obvious.

Secondly, Bosnia and now Kosovo demonstrate vividly the terrible lesson of history that the forcible mixing of ethnic and religious groups leads to civil disorder, riots, bitterness, hatred and even civil war.

Just as the old Soviet Union and Yugoslavia have proved this rule, so will any attempt at a Federal Europe.

God help us and save us from the follies of stupid white liberals.

B. Winn, Caithness.

Sir — The low moral standards of this country are typified in the issue of the commemorative stamp for the millennium with the half naked body of the late queer Freddy Mercury, resplendant in what appear to be red tights.

Has the stamp been brought out to remind us of the way this man died, which was due to the AIDS virus, or is it an effort to try and convince our youth that it is normal to behave in an unnatural manner and to hell with the consequences.

I for one will not be licking this stamp for obvious reasons but I will not dwell on that here. I will leave that to your own imaginations.

Mr. Bernard, Oldham.

Sir — My home town of Derby overflows with immigrants from around the world. They are allowed all our benefits and housing while indigenous Britons wait for years on council house registers.

We have too many white dogooders in this country. I wish you all the luck in the world.

Mrs. Reid, Derby.

Sir — One of your features in a previous BN was that of the dangers of our country bailing out France and Germany's pension problem.

One of the reasons, however, that the British pension position with regard to future liabilities looks so rosy is because the British pension is so miserly!

British pensions ought to be £30 higher per week to make up the decline in the pension's value since 1979 which would go a long way towards taking millions of our old folk out of poverty and misery.

M. Bland, Sheffield.

Sir — A friend of mine (a native of West Yorkshire) recently applied for a position with Bradford City Council, a position which he was eminently qualified. He was informed that he was unsuccessful because he had no experience of working in an ethnically diverse environment. Apparently, it's not what you know, but where you live that matters.

J. Atkinson, Cumbria.

Sir — Recently, Kilroy-Silk on his TV programme failed to get to the bottom of why police stop and

MUGGINS FOOTS THE BILL

Famous world soft-touch — Mr. and Mrs. British Public are to foot the bill for an immigrant pederast who sexually assaulted an 11-year-old girl. The illegal immigrant who was sentenced to two years in prison and who has AIDS has just had his deportation order quashed by the High Court.

The freed AIDS carrier, Chris Mayambala who'll die in months if not treated claims that he won't get his drugs in Uganda.

Mayambala who heard of the luxury living to be had in Britain arrived in 1990 and has lived off benefit ever since.

LOTTO LARGESS

Two Manchester community groups to help black and Asian families have jointly been awarded £655,000. This makes the Indian Senior Citizens' Centre a two-time winner since the National Lottery Charities Board made it a grant two years ago.

Manager Ratilal Chohan said: "We are very excited at the news."

MUSLIM LAGS

Britain's first Muslim adviser to the Prison Service was appointed last month. The reason for the appointment is the rocketing Muslim jail population which has doubled in the last five years to 4,355 and which is expected to double again within three years.

BANGLA ACID VICTIMS

Hundreds of Bangladeshi girls rejected by suitors or involved in family disputes are doused with corrosive acid each year. Dhaka Medical College has dealt with 150 burns victims this year alone — the spill over cases going to Europe.

In Britain, trendy 'liberals' urge 'understanding' of foreign cultures and mores.

Is Kilroy-Silk stupid, or does he think we are?

N. Odell, Middlesex.

Sir — Greetings from multi-racial Birmingham! Our councillors who renamed Christmas last year as 'Winterval' had the smile wiped off their faces when a phone-in poll in the Birmingham Evening Mail reported that a staggering 98% of brummies want a complete halt to further immigration into the UK.

For some reason, the councillors have been very quiet lately. I wonder why?

AUSTRIA

Last month, Jörg Haider's patriotic Austrian Freedom Party (FPO) pulled off no less than two electoral successes.

In the regional election for Vorarlberg, the FPO jumped 9.1% to 27.5% winning seats and knocking the conservative People's Party off its ruling perch for the first time since WWII and taking votes from all other parties.

Mr. Haider is currently the governor of the Austrian state of Carinthia after winning 40% of the vote there earlier in the year.

The latest triumph, however, is the most spectacular with the FPO taking 27.2% of the vote in the Austrian General Election and coming second to the Social Democrats which took 33.4% and pushing the People's Party into third place with 26.9%.

The People's Party vowed to go into opposition if they were ousted from second place.

The Social Democrats need to find a coalition partner to run the country. Realistically, there are only two choices: persuading the People's Party back into government, or cutting a deal with Haider. Should the SDP fail, then Haider himself would be offered the chance to form a government. Likewise, he would need to cut a deal with either the SDP or the People's Party and Haider has pragmatically said that he is ready to do business with either!

Haider is living proof that sensible politics can work for nationalism.

FOREIGN NEWS

S. AFRICA

Showing the state of race relations in the wondrous rainbow state, a black Army officer went on the rampage last month shooting and killing seven white colleagues. Five other white officers were badly wounded.

Lieutenant Sibusiso Madubela, an ex-guerilla, went from office to office at his base in Bloemfontein firing an automatic rifle.

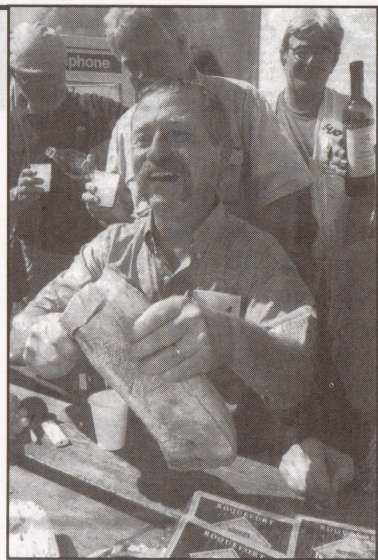

In a follow-on to the story, black soldiers at the base have refused to provide honour guards for the funerals of the victims, but said that they would attend the funeral of the killer who was finally shot dead by other troops!

FRANCE

José Bové, the leader of the Confederation Paysanne, a small farmers' union was released from prison last month for wrecking a McDonald's Restaurant that was still under construction after hundreds of well-wishers paid his £10,500 bail.

For France as elsewhere, McDonald's represents the march of globalisation with its threat to the small producer. For France where good food is an integral part of life, McDonald's encapsulates it all — economic horror and gastronomic horror in the same bun.

Mr. Bové has become a symbol of French resistance drawing sympathy from all parties — Communist, Greens, Socialists, Gaullists and Front National.

This is just another strand of ordinary people rejecting globalisation

GERMANY

Early last month, the ruling Social Democratic Party led by Gerhard Schröder suffered severe electoral defeats in two of Germany's federal states — Saarland (on the border with France) and Brandenburg (in the old East Germany).

It was in Brandenburg that saw the SDP's biggest drop in support as the patriotic Deutsche Volksunion (DVU) or German Peoples Party came from nowhere to win nearly six per cent of the vote and take five federal seats.

The DVU's election winning result of 5.9% is the second in two years as it scored 12.9% in Saxony-Anhalt in April of last year giving it seats there too.

DVU leader Gerhard Frey, a Munich publisher, obtained the DVU vote by way of a massive direct mail and poster campaign. Slogans included: 'German money for German Work' and 'Criminal Foreigners Out'.

BNP PUBLICITY

Below and right are just some of the publicity items which get sent to BN every month. Mid-Staffs Organiser Neil Phillips scores highly for using the sample letter that was sent to every Organiser and Treasurer back in the summer to send in to local papers. The Rugeley Mercury rated it as the top citizen's viewpoint. Anyone can send in this kind of letter. Cribbing is allowed. Below is just a small fraction of the publicity had in Scotland which is firing on all cylinders.

This week top Citizen's Viewpoint comes from Neil Phillips, Mid-Staffs BNP Organiser

Don't mess with our money

Sir,
The last time the politicians messed about with our money it was a disaster.
Decimalisation turned out to be just an excuse for big shops to push up their prices. And because no-one really knew how much the new currency was worth, the Government was able to let inflation rip as it tried to spend its way back to popularity with a mountain of borrowed money that is still costing us all a fortune in interest payments.
While the banks and the fat-cats got fatter, thousands of small businesses were destroyed by the cost of the changeover. Hundreds of millions of pounds of taxpayers' money were wasted on real maths lessons as the bureaucrats behind the change forced teachers to turn lessons into advertisements for the new system, and everybody lost out in the confusion. Prices were always rounded up, never down!
In the Euro-Elections, the BNP will give millions of Britons the chance to vote for a party which will go to the European Parliament not to get on the nation-wrecking gravy train, but to throw a spanner in its works. We'll defend our right to run our own affairs, make our own laws, and keep our own currency. There's no other way to save the pound.

Anger at BNP Seafest claims

FURIOUS ARBROATH Seafest organisers yesterday ridiculed claims that British National Party members were active at the weekend event.

The BNP said four Angus activists, part of its Tayside unit, were at Seafest to support Britain's struggling fishing industry.

They claim to have handed out leaflets calling for a 200-mile fishing exclusion zone around the UK.

Member Kenneth Smith said the BNP took food parcels and greetings cards to sheltered housing complexes before they left town. Angus deputy provost, Brian Milne, one of the Seafest organisers, said they would have been kicked out of the harbour area if they had been spotted.

"I spent two full days at Seafest and no one saw anything whatsoever of the British National Party."

"Their hate-type politics is not something we want in this area."

Seafest, in its third year, attracted 30,000 visitors to Arbroath on Saturday and Sunday—double the previous year's attendance.

The BNP has pledged further activities in Angus, which Mr Milne said will be resisted.

● Christian fundamentalists in Australia and the US have hijacked the Declaration of Arbroath to back their claims to be God's "chosen race."

Revival Centres International have published an English translation of the 1320 declaration on their website, claiming it contains references to the Scots' journey from Israel across Europe.

However, while Revival Centres has the Scots defeating the Picts at the end of their trek across Europe, other organisations claim the Picts came from Israel.

MID-STAFFS FAMILY DAY

Following on from the success of this summer's Family Day, Mid-Staffs Organiser, Neil Phillips organised a similar event for the first ever Mid-Staffs Renaissance camp. The camp was based at a first-class site on the edge of Cannock Chase.

Glorious sunshine welcomed nearly a dozen families to the camp and on the Saturday afternoon, while the parents were setting up the tents, all the children were soon mixing and playing.

In the evening, everybody gathered together for a barbeque, feasting on sausages, chops and burgers. While the adults washed the meal down with fine ale, the children were just as happy with lemonade!

The talking and laughing went on until the small hours which attests to what a good time was had by all.

After a delicious cooked breakfast on Sunday morning, everyone went for a walk in the beautiful Cannock Forest. The scenery from the hills was breathtaking.

Nothing last forever, however, and so come Sunday lunchtime everyone packed up their belongings, but not before deciding to make the camp an annual event.

All over the country, the Renaissance ideal is catching on!

Happy BNP campers

ACTIVITY NEWS

Following the disgraceful events in Dover when a rampaging mob of Albanian immigrants slashed local teenagers in the town centre and at a fun fair, and which affects the whole of the Kent coast, Kent BNP descended on Ramsgate for a mass leaflet drive.

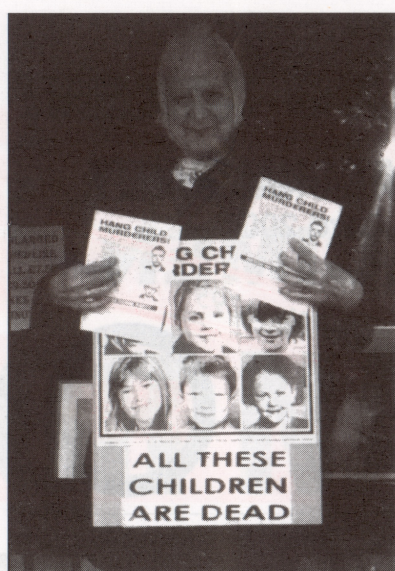

Ramsgate was chosen in preference to Dover because although Dover was the scene of the immigrant violence, the problem affects all Kent coastal towns and there was less chance of a nervous police force adopting heavy-handed tactics with the party's leaflet team.

With no less than two-dozen members assembled, Ramsgate was duly blessed with around 2,000 'Do You Think?' leaflets. Kent folk obviously did think, because in the week following, the party received nine enquiries from people all acutely aware of what had happened down in Dover.

The activity has provided Kent BNP with yet another welcome boost as it gains strength, under the leadership of Michael Easter, from the Kent backlash against violent, sponging immigrants.

● In Burnley, party activists leafleted fans going into Burnley football club with 'Hang Child Murderer' leaflets just before the game on September 18th.

This activist is 84-years-old!

There were no dissenters but plenty shouts of agreement with one gentleman asking to be considered for Albert Pierrepoint's old job once capital punishment is restored!

The team was led by Burnley & Pendle Organiser Robert Longworth who, incidentally, is the Organiser of Britain's fastest growing group with more members than many long-established branches!

Also present on the occasion was 84-year-old Enid Pomfret who has been an active nationalist since the 1970s.

If Enid can help out her local group's activity, there's is no reason why anyone else can't do so either!

● A small team from Leicester and Peterborough descended upon Rutland for a Day of Action which entailed distributing hundreds of leaflets and back copies of British Nationalist around the towns of Uppingham and Lyddington.

Retiring to a local hostelry, the BNP team found themselves well-received by local people whereupon more copies of BN found their way into interested local hands.

● Scotland BNP have launched several recruiting drives to complement enquiries received from the Euro election in Fife and Ayr. And good publicity was obtained by leafleting Arbroath's Sea Fest and handing food parcels in to sheltered homes for the town's old folk.

ADMIN CHANGES

BN readers should note that the party's administration changes will largely be based around decentralisation. That will entail changing the address for British Nationalist, for Freedom Books, for Membership subscriptions and donations, for merchandising, for leaflet supplies etc.

This will be done gradually, but all readers should keep an eye on changing addresses and phone numbers over the next two or three months.

RESIGNATIONS

While the party's previous party Chairman, John Tyndall, has called for everyone to support the BNP in the event of his losing the party leadership some people, unable to accept the democratic verdict of the members, have tendered their resignations from the posts that they have held in the party.

These are: Richard Edmonds (National Organiser and South East London Regional Organiser); Iain Wilson (Dewsbury Branch Organiser); Keith Axon (West Birmingham Branch Organiser); John Morse (Mid-South Regional Organiser) and Ian Dell (Chief Steward).

As probably the most popular and well regarded figure in the party, Richard Edmonds will be sorely missed. Richard, who has worked tirelessly for the party almost without a break for 19 years, will be taking a long and well-deserved rest. Sadly, the same cannot be said of the others who have not helped to contribute positively to the party for some time. In the case of Messrs. Axon, Morse and Wilson in particular, their performances were so poor that it is felt that they have jumped before they were pushed.

APPOINTMENTS

With the resignation of Mr. Axon, West and South Birmingham Branches are being amalgamated until further notice under South Birmingham Branch Organiser, Mr. Lee Windridge.

Bexleyheath & Dartford Branch Organiser Colin Smith is the newly appointed South East London Regional Organiser and the post of National Organiser is abolished.

East London Regional Organiser Tony Lecomber takes up a new appointment of Group Development and Regulation. Both Tony and Colin have a brief to aid the formation of new groups and branches of the party, in Tony's case nationally and in Colin's case in S.E. London.

The positions of Dewsbury Organiser, Mid-South Regional Organiser and Chief Steward are being held vacant for the time being.

Michael Newland M.A. is the new National Treasurer. A new position of Deputy Chairman is to be created, as is the post of party auditor. These appointments will be made shortly.

BNP FORM NEW GROUPS

As a result of the strong growth the party is still experiencing from the European Election, British Nationalist is pleased to announce the formation of a Liverpool group of the BNP.

The party hasn't been properly organised in Liverpool for several years and indeed, the party hadn't been firing on all cylinders in Liverpool for some years before that.

Liverpool is a depressed area and one where local people display great apathy as shown in the abysmally low turnouts at election times. This means that the party's new group will have its work cut out to make any impression on the area.

The other group formed as of this month is Darlington BNP and a new contact address has been opened there for local BN readers and party members to get in touch with. Unlike Liverpool which can already boast a handful of activists, Darlington BNP is still very weak, so any help would be appreciated.

ANNUAL RALLY POSTPONED

Since Mr. Griffin has become Chairman of the British National Party following his election last month, it has emerged that the previous administration has not organised the party's October/November Annual Rally or indeed made any preparation whatsoever. As a result Mr. Griffin said that there is little alternative but to postpone the Annual Rally for this year since it is not a practical proposition to organise this major event at such short notice.

YEAR 2000 MEMBERSHIP SUBSCRIPTIONS NOW BEING TAKEN!

The party is now accepting year 2000 membership subscriptions. As in recent years, once again the party card has been given a new design which adds to its collectability. The card looks smart enough to compare with the best and is laminated to guard against beer and gravy stains!

While Oliver Cromwell isn't a member, you can be. Mark the millennium with a year 2000 party membership card. Membership of the BNP costs just £20 per year with a half-rate discount available for students, OAPs and the unemployed.

Membership during 1999 has been marked by strong growth as was the year before. This year's growth figure is 41% on the year before, which in turn had been up 35% on the year before that. The BNP is on an upward curve. More people are becoming members, more new groups are being formed and more activities are being undertaken with the express purpose of pushing the party further forward than ever before. Join the future — Join up!

OPERATION WHITE VOTE

At one recent BNP meeting, those in attendance were asked whether they were on the Electoral Roll. Incredibly, virtually half the audience admitted that for one reason or another that they were not. No doubt, a similar situation exists in many other parts of the country as well. This is an absurd position; if even our hardcore supporters can't be bothered to fill a simple Electoral Roll form which entitles them to vote for the British National Party, why should anyone else?

Everyone should ensure that they get themselves on the Electoral Register so that they are able and entitled to vote for the party in any given election. Party supporters should remember that the BNP won Millwall ward by just seven votes! In addition, not being on the Electoral Register severely damages a person's credit rating.

Even though the forms needed to get on the register for next year should already have been returned, there is still time for people who failed to do so to put things right.

Contact your local Town Hall before the end of the month and ask for a form to ensure that you're on the Electoral Register.

Far right prey on paedophile fears

'VILE' BNP LEAFLET DRUMS UP SUPPORT NEAR SEX CONVICT

THE far-right British National Party has been blasted for trying to make political gain from children murdered by paedophiles after it sent canvassing leaflets to doors of residents living near the Egham home of sex offender Sid Munday.

The leaflets, showing photographs of murdered children, were headed with the chilling message: 'All these children would be alive today if our spineless politicians had the guts to declare war on the paedophiles.'

The leaflets were dropped through doors of residents who live near Munday's Wapshot Road home.

Horrified resident Janet Gould, from Hythe Park Road, said: "It appears that these awful people wish to capitalise on the paedophile Sidney Munday incident."

"It is obviously very dangerous that their leaflet is very appealing on this nasty subject."

"Several people I have spoken to in the immediate area have voiced support for the BNP leaflet."

The shocking text went as far as accusing certain MPs of being paedophiles. It also accuses homosexuals of encouraging paedophilia.

British National Party spokesman Michael Newland said: "There have been persistent rumours about MPs involvement in paedophilia and it's in the public interest."

"Political parties are entitled to draw attention to trends if it is in the public interest."

"The fact of the matter is most paedophilia comes from homosexuals, figures prove that."

Egham councillor Rod Pate blasted the leaflets.

He said: "The vile rhetoric that has appeared from the British National Party serves no purpose whatsoever."

"Gutter politics should remain in the gutter."

"I do have a lot of sympathy for those people in Wapshot Road."

"How society deals with these people is still an ongoing debate, but this must be a meaningful and sensible debate."

AFTER hearing about the early release in mid September of pederast degenerate Sid Munday, members of the Instant Response Group and Berkshire & N. Hants. BNP travelled to the Surrey town of Egham to attend a residents meeting.

The team arrived to support local parents, but found the community hall shut and a group of angry people waiting outside. The meeting had been cancelled on the pretence that sick fiend Munday was not going to live in the immediate area. The BNP team soon found from locals, however, that the child-sex predator had moved in with his elderly father, who lived in a nearby street.

The BNP activists decided not to waste the evening and leafleted that street and the adjacent area. On their way, the team met a group of local youths who pointed out Munday's father's home, shouting: "The filth lives in there!"

Munday was convicted for 2 years for his part in molesting five boys, the youngest just 13-years-old. He was caught making child-sex films in a flat in S.E. London by Scotland Yard's paedophile unit. But having spent just 1 year on remand, was released back into the community!

The Staines & Egham News reported the event and found one simpleton willing to denounce the party, although even this person was forced to admit that: "Several people I have spoken to in the immediate area have voiced support for the BNP leaflet."

IRG ACTION!

What we stand for

- A massive expansion of Freedom and Democracy to roll back the erosion of our traditional freedoms and truly reflect the wishes of the people; the adoption of popular referenda & hi-tech direct democracy.
- The establishment of a government that puts British interests first.
- An end to immigration and the never-ending flood of asylum seekers. Financial assistance for those who wish to return.
- British withdrawal from the European Union: trade with Europe where it suits us but no political ties, and no monetary union.
- British withdrawal from the multi-racial Commonwealth and a new partnership with our old allies: Australia, New Zealand and Canada.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources.
- Protection of British jobs and industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- The subordination of the power of the City to the power of Government, and the harnessing of the City to the needs of British industry.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum self-sufficiency in food; also the restoration of the fishing industry by protection of our traditional fishing grounds.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people — the protection of our countryside and firm measures against pollution; an end to the architectural disfigurement of our towns and cities.
- A crack-down on crime and tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty for child killers and terrorists.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and the sacking of 'trendy' teachers.
- An alternative defence strategy: withdrawal from NATO; closure of all foreign military and air bases in Britain; British withdrawal from the war in former Yugoslavia, where no British interest is at stake; the bringing home of British forces from Germany; the strengthening of Britain's defences and a position of armed neutrality.
- An end to overseas aid and the allocation of the money saved to the financing of repatriation and greater help for the needy at home.
- The crushing of the IRA, the termination of the Anglo-Irish agreement and firm support for the loyalist majority in Northern Ireland.
- A return to healthy moral values aimed at strengthening the family and community.

can hand down short sentences for such creatures, and yet give football fans one year inside for racially abusing a football player?

The other question for Egham people is who exerted political pressure to cancel the residents' meeting on the pretext that Munday had moved when it was common knowledge that he was still living in Egham?

FINANCES VERY LOW!

The cupboard is always bare at this time of year and the party hard up. However, since looking at the books, the new party leadership has discovered that the party is even more hard up than previously thought.

The purchase of items connected with a long overdue, full scale administrative overhaul, the launch of a new magazine, plus essential day-to-day expenditure, means that money is urgently needed. The party's newly-appointed National Treasurer (by profession an accountant) awaits your donation!
